CHAIRMAN'S MESSAGE

The Government reconstituted the National Anti-Corruption Campaign Steering Committee (NACCSC) in September, 2014. Through reconstitution, the campaign was strengthened as institutions that represent sectors critical to winning the war against corruption in Kenya were brought into the membership. Key among the sectors are women, youth and persons with disabilities who are most afflicted by corruption yet they possess great potential to fight the vice. The sectors will be represented in NACCSC by Maendeleo Ya Wanawake Organization, National Youth Council and National Council for Persons With Disabilities respectively, and mechanisms for their full participation in the campaign against corruption are at different stages of finalization.

The campaign to effect culture, behaviour and attitude change is the best way to fight corruption in Kenya.

Corruption ranks high among the most serious challenges that face our country today. It continues to pose great threats to delivery of quality service to the public, attainment of the development and transformative agenda as enunciated in the Kenya Vision 2030 blueprint. Upon appointment, members toured a total of five counties located in the North Rift Region and held policy meetings with the Governors and other high-ranking County Government Officials to discuss corruption in the devolved units. They all confirmed that corruption was spreading fast to the county structures and was affecting the startup of the Devolved Governments. Discussions with the members of the public during implementation of campaign activities, confirms they experience corruption on a daily basis. Indeed, the public perceives corruption to be on the increase and strongly feels there is urgent need for the situation to be arrested and reversed.

NACCSC will continue to engage with the citizens and stakeholders, including the County Governments, to mobilize them to be involved and participate in fighting and preventing corruption. It is important to recognize that the power members of the public wield can be used positively to effectively fight corruption. A significant step towards this is for Kenyans to embrace and practice the National Values as enshrined in Article 10 of the Constitution of Kenya, 2010. NACCSC will intensify the values-based anti-corruption campaign that it recently rolled out since a society that embraces and practices values would not and cannot tolerate a few selfish individuals plunder public resources for their personal gain.

As we enter this critical stage of the fight against corruption, we call for dedication and continued support by all so that, together, we liberate this great nation from corruption and its negative effects. NACCSC Members commit to be in the frontline and appeal to all Kenyans to join and support the campaign.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Introduction

The Government reconstituted the National Anti-Corruption Campaign Steering Committee (NACCSC) and appointed members through Kenya Gazette Notice No. 6707 of 19th September, 2014 – see appendix I. It is mandated to undertake a nationwide public education, sensitization and awareness-creation campaign against corruption aimed at fundamentally changing the behaviour, attitudes, practices and culture of Kenyans towards corruption. NACCSC has a total of 14 Members drawn from Government Ministries and Departments; Agencies relevant to the campaign against corruption such as the National Youth Council and National Council for Persons With Disability; Religious Organizations and the giant Maendeleo Ya Wanawake Organization which has functional structures up to the grassroots.

The Gazette Notice requires NACCSC to prepare half-yearly reports for H.E the President detailing the progress made in the implementation of various campaign programmes and activities. In line with this requirement, NACCSC has prepared this report covering the periods 19th September, 2014 to 31st March, 2015. Included is a report on activities that were implemented from 1st July to 10th August, 2014 when the term for the previous Committee expired.

A. Summary of Policy Interventions

(a) Inauguration of the National Anti-Corruption Campaign Steering Committee

Following the reconstitution of the National Anti-Corruption Campaign Steering Committee (NACCSC) and members appointed vide Kenya Gazette Notice no. 6707 dated 19th September, 2014, the Hon. Attorney General inaugurated the Committee on 24th November, 2014 in his office. The meeting was attended by a total of 14 members appointed from a wide spectrum of the society including youth, women, persons with disability and faith-based organizations; trade unions, Government Ministries/Departments and State Corporations. Members were appointed to NACCSC for a five-year term within which to actualize the campaign against corruption.

While noting that H.E the President appointed the members on a five-year term, the Hon. A.G. urged them to develop innovative campaign strategies and programmes, practical enough to inspire and mobilize Kenyans into a mass movement against corruption to reduce the gap between the high awareness level and action. He recognized that they represented various institutions/organizations and requested that each member prepares and presents a well thought out paper on the value the institution/organization they represented would add to the campaign. He, further, suggested that NACCSC reaches out to Kenyans and help them embrace the national and other traditional values as a tool to fight corruption.

To enable the members get started, the Hon. AG directed that a retreat be organized to induct them on the campaign but most importantly, to discuss the future campaign focus. He assured members and the entire Committee of total support by his office on policy guidance and facilitation necessary for the discharge of the Committee's mandate.

(b) Induction Retreat for NACCSC Members

Following the reconstitution and appointment of members of the National Anti-Corruption Campaign Steering Committee (NACCSC) vide Kenya Gazette Notice No. 6707 dated 19th September 2014, an induction retreat was held from 3rd to 6th December, 2014 attended by all members. The retreat was to help members understand the mandate of NACCSC and anti-corruption framework, among others issues.

At the end of the three-day retreat, the following issues were approved as the way forward to inform the future of the campaign:

- (i) Partnerships with institutions represented in NACCSC membership are considered for efficient implementation of the campaign through their structures.
- (ii) NACCSC seeks partnership with the County Governments in the implementation of the campaign and mobilization of the public to participate in the fight against corruption. NACCSC to also consider a meeting with media owners for campaign buy-in and negotiate for favourable rates for airing of anti-corruption messages as well as free campaign adverts and mentions on TV and Radio.
- (iii) Implementation of the values-based anti-corruption campaign as a tool to fight corruption. A Consultant be procured to actualize the Concept Paper on the campaign.

- (iv) NACCSC to benchmark with other countries that have succeeded in the fight against corruption.
- (v) NACCSC to identify roles models, including H. E the President, to crusade against corruption.

(c) Policy Meetings with County Governments

NACCSC Members held high level policy meetings with County Governments Officials in Kakamega, Busia, Bungoma, West Pokot and Garissa counties in the period 18th to 21st February and 6th March, 2015. The meetings were attended by the County Governors, County Executive Committee (CEC) members and other high ranking officials. Corruption in the counties and the initiatives necessary to fight and prevent corruption from taking root were discussed with the County Governments agreeing to partner with NACCSC to implement campaign activities, particularly in the restructuring of local Anti-Corruption Civilian Oversight Committees and production and transmission of anti-corruption messages through local FM radio stations.

B. Summary of Campaign Activities

During the reporting period, NACCSC implemented a number of campaign activities under communication, advocacy, administration and finance programmes while the office of the Director provided overall guidance, supervision and strategic leadership.

a) Communication Activities

The following three activities were implemented under communications: -

(i) "Moving the Masses" Multimedia Campaign:

NACCSC conceptualized the dissemination of anti-corruption messages through a multi-media campaign programme branded Moving the Masses under the theme Fighting Corruption, My Responsibility! The Kenya Broadcasting Corporation (KBC) was procured to produce and transmit the one-hour programme through KBC Channel One television and Idhaa ya Taifa radio. The Programme gave Kenyans an opportunity to openly discuss corruption issues that affect their lives as well as contribute ideas on how the vice can be fought. Five episodes were produced and transmitted in the reporting period to an estimated four million viewers and 1.6 million listeners countrywide weekly with the following messages: what corruption is, forms, manifestations, effects and actions that should be taken, thus preventing corruption, reporting, recording statements and adducing evidence against suspects in courts of law.

(ii) Radio Campaign

NACCSC undertook a radio campaign activity with seven Counties namely Kisumu, Siaya, Homabay, Migori, Kajiado, Samburu and Narok to produce and transmit anti-corruption messages in vernacular languages. NACCSC contracted Mayienga FM and Nosim FM Radio Stations. Information, Education and Communication (IEC) materials totaling 400 branded round-neck campaign t/shirts, 200 branded wristbands and 200 car stickers were provided to the radio stations for distribution to listeners to motivate them to continue participating in the programme. The audience was regularly informed of the 'Moving the Masses' programme transmission times so that they could tune in. An estimated 2.5 million listeners were reached every week.

(iii) Values-Based Anti-Corruption Campaign

NACCSC conceptualized a nationwide values-based anti-corruption campaign to create awareness and encourage members of the public to embrace and practice the National Values outlined in article 10 of the Constitution of Kenya, 2010 as a tool to fight corruption. Values-based anti-corruption messages in the form of two Public Service Announcements (PSAs) were aired during 'Moving the Masses' campaign programme.

(iv) Agricultural Shows and Exhibitions

NACCSC participated alongside the Office of the Attorney General and Department of Justice in the Nairobi International Trade Fair themed "driving agri-business in attaining food sufficiency and Vision 2030" held from 29th September to 5th October, 2014 at Jamhuri Showground. During the event, NACCSC disseminated anti-corruption messages and distributed 800 brochures, 500 stickers and 750 branded wrist bands to enhance visibility and retention of the messages.

(v) UN International Anti-Corruption Day

The International Anti-Corruption Day was marked on 9th December, 2014 and NACCSC actively participated in the main activity at Machakos Stadium under the coordination of the Kenya Leadership and Integrity Forum (KLIF) under the theme Tukomeshe Ufisada Tuijenge Nchi Yetu! NACCSC carried a supplement in both the Daily Nation and The Standard Newspapers on 9th December, 2014 on the campaign. In Kilifi, Bungoma and Kirinyaga Counties, the County Anti-Corruption Civilian Oversight Committees also participated in activities to mark the Day.

b) Advocacy Activities

During the reporting period, NACCSC completed the following advocacy campaign activities:

(i) County Anti-Corruption Civilian Oversight Committees

The County Anti-Corruption Civilian Oversight Committees (CACCOCs) held a total of 21 consultative meetings with stakeholders, thus, County Government officials, Ministries /Departments, Members of Parliament and Constituency Development Fund (CDF) Managers in the respective counties to rally support for the implementation of their work plans. Kakamega, Bungoma, Busia, West Pokot, Migori, Kisii, Makueni, Garissa, Embu and Meru CACCOCs conducted 40 Social Audits and Reporting Forums during which 1,967 key beneficiaries and leaders were sensitized on corruption in the implementation of public projects and programmes. CACCOCs participated in 31 public Barazas and sensitization forums held in Taita Taveta, Kakamega, Kirinyaga, Kilifi, Nairobi City and Kiambu Counties, reaching a total of 1,927 beneficiaries. The sensitization forums were organized by various stakeholders.

(ii) Capacity Building Workshop for CACCOCs

A two day capacity building workshop for eight members of the newly reconstituted Kilifi CACCOC was held at Pwani University on 30th and 31st March, 2015. The workshop was officially opened by the Kilifi County CEC Member in-charge of the Public Service, Hon. Racheal Musyoki, on behalf of H.E. the Governor. A total of 8 CACCOC members were trained by facilitators drawn from NACCSC Secretariat, EACC and KNCHR.

(iii) Integrated Public Complaints Referral Mechanism

NACCSC participated in the implementation of the Integrated Public Complaints Referral Mechanism (IPCRM) as a means of reducing corruption related complaints from the public under the theme 'sema, piga ripoti'. IPCRM provides a one stop referral centre for receiving complaints, referring them to the relevant agencies for resolution and then giving feedback to the complainants, all within one platform. A total of 42 complaints were received and processed through the system and 185 IPCRM fliers distributed. NACCSC also participated in an IPCRM Interagency meeting held at Maanzoni Lodge on 4th – 6th March, 2015 organized for all the participating agencies to review and redesign the programme for implementation in the 2014 - 15 financial year.

(iv) Partnerships with Organizations Represented in NACCSC

NACCSC signed a Memoranda of Understanding (MoU) with Maendeleo Ya Wanawake Organization (MYWO) on 31st March, 2015, being one of the organizations that are represented in NACCSC membership. The MoU will guide the implementation of the joint anti-corruption campaign through the MYWO structures that are functional up to the grassroots level.

Challenges and Recommendations

The campaign faced some challenges, arising from which some recommendations have been made as follows:

a) Challenges

The following are some of the challenges experienced during the reporting period:

- (i) A culture of corruption deeply entrenched in the Kenyan society right from the family level and in the Government procedures and processes as well as the fast spreading corrupt practices in the counties.

- (ii) Lack of involvement and participation of the citizens in the fight against corruption and management of public affairs and prevention of corruption in the implementation of development programmes and projects funded by the taxpayer.
- (iii) Lack of adequate awareness on the national values provided in the Constitution of Kenya, 2010, hence not embraced and practiced.
- (iv) Lukewarm support to the fight against corruption by the County Governments.
- (v) Complex procurement processes and inadequate information on new initiatives such as the Access to Government Procurement Opportunities (AGPO) programme, cash transfers, etc.
- (vi) Inadequate human and financial resources for NACCSC to effectively implement a nationwide anti-corruption campaign.

Recommendations

The following are the recommendations to address the above challenges:

- (i) Mobilization and capacity building of other institutions and civil society organizations to support and implement campaign against corruption.
- (ii) Intensification of social audits on publicly funded projects and programmes to enhance awareness and rally public to support in the fight against corruption.
- (iii) Prioritization of preventive strategies in the fight against corruption.
- (iv) Examination of all Government processes and procedures to eliminate those that encourage corrupt practices.
- (v) Implementation of the values-based anti-corruption campaign to promote the national values as a tool to fight corruption and unethical conduct.
- (vi) Implementation of segment specific awareness creation on new Government initiatives such as AGPO.
- (vii) Consideration for provision of reasonably adequate resources to NACCSC to facilitate implementation of an effective awareness campaign.

3. Policy Meetings with County Governments

NACCSC Members and Secretariat Staff visited the five counties for high level policy meetings with the county governments. The meetings were held as indicated below:-

No	Date	County	Host
(i)	17 th February, 2015	Kakamega	Governor H.E. Hon. Wycliff Oparanya
(ii)	18 th February, 2015	Busia (K)	Governor H.E. Hon. Sospeter Ojamoong

(iv)	20 th February, 2015	West Pokot	Deputy Governor H.E. Hon Titus Lotee
(v)	6 th March, 2015	Garissa	Governor, H.E. Hon. Nathif Jamaa

The meetings were attended by the Governors, Deputy Governors, County Executive Committee (CEC) Members, County Secretaries and other high ranking County Officials.

Objectives of the Policy Meetings

The general objective of the policy meetings was to discuss corruption in the counties, how it can be dealt with and the implementation of the anti-corruption campaign. Specifically, the following issues were addressed:

- (i) The potential of corruption to permeate and derail the development agenda of the county governments.
- (ii) Share some of the corruption issues that NACCSC had documented during previous implementation of various anti-corruption activities and test whether they still persisted.
- (iii) The need to raise public awareness on corruption and rally support for anti-corruption initiatives.

- (iv) Anti-corruption campaign strategies and activities that NACCSC could implement jointly the County Governments.

Corruption Issues

The following areas had been identified during previous campaign engagements in the counties as corruption prone and NACCSC sought to be informed if they were still prevalent:

- (i) Land matters
- (ii) Revenue collection and utilization of resources
- (iii) Implementation of public projects and programmes
- (iv) Public procurement of goods and services
- (v) Tribalism, clannism, nepotism and favouritism in recruitment, awards of tenders, access to services
- (vi) Insecurity and corruption in the traffic police department

Discussions

During discussions, Governors in all the counties commended NACCSC for recognizing that county governments had a role in the fight against corruption. They welcomed the initiative by NACCSC to seek partnership with the county governments to fight and prevent corruption, saying they viewed corruption as a cancer that was slowly destroying the fabric of the society, made the counties lag behind in development and was, indeed, a threat to devolution. They acknowledged that corruption issues previously identified by NACCSC were still prevalent. Further, Governors identified excessive politicking, greed and insatiable appetite for public resources as the major drivers of corruption in both the National and County Governments.

They were of the view that the best solution was to put in place preventive measures as opposed to applying curative measures of investigating and prosecuting suspects when corrupt activities had already taken place and public resources lost, citing the adage that prevention is better than cure.

Counties, therefore, committed to vigorously fight corruption and support implementation of the campaign as follows:

- (i) All counties expressed readiness and willingness to partner and collaborate with NACCSC in the campaign against corruption.
- (ii) Preventive approach to the fight was the most viable option for the war to be won.
- (iii) Formulation of county specific measures and massive sensitization and awareness programmes for local residents and county leaders including Women, Youth, Religious and Opinion Leaders; Project Management Committees, School Committees and Boards of Governors, among other organized groups.
- (iv) Production and transmission of anti-corruption messages and generating media debates through Community/FM Radio Stations that county governments identified as follows—
 - West FM for Kaklamega, Busia (K) and Bungoma Counties
 - Kalya FM for West Pokot County
 - Star FM for Garissa County
- (i) Restructuring and capacity building of local Oversight Committees existing in each County to County Anti-Corruption Civilian Oversight Committees (CACCOCs). County governments were requested to identify and recommend respected citizens for appointment to CACCOCs whose functions remain to undertake public education, rally support for the fight, provide support mechanisms necessary for effective public participation in the fight and regular monitoring of corruption in the implementation of publicly funded projects and programmes.
- (ii) Undertaking joint research/studies and sharing findings of study reports.
- (iii) County Governments to make deliberate efforts to set aside resources to support the fight against corruption, strengthen systems that ensure collection of revenue, promote transparent procurement of goods and services and provide the public with information on approved projects/programmes.

In addition, Governors raised the following issues which, in their view, needed to be addressed so as to strengthen the fight against corruption:

- (i) Advocacy for stiffer penalties for persons found guilty of engaging in corruption.
- (ii) Utilization of Information, Communication and Technology (ICT) in the fight against corruption e.g. counties may establish/develop bulk short messaging system for reporting corruption.
- (iii) Consideration of vetting of public officers before appointment to inculcate integrity.

- (iv) Policy guidance on formation of Project Management Committees (PMCs) in all development projects initiated in the county.
- (v) Mainstreaming of anti-corruption in the public sector and strengthening of the Ministry responsible for fighting corruption.
- (vi) Counties to consider establishing corruption reporting desks as well as support other institutions in the county such as churches, schools, among others to establish and adopt anti-corruption preventive strategies and seek NACCSC support.
- (vii) The need to train the county staff on integrity, majority of whom were inherited from the defunct local authorities.

Garissa County Governor, H.E. Hon. Nathif Jama, during the meeting held in the County Government's Boardroom, Garissa. To his left is NACCSC Vice Chairperson, Rev. Jessie Mutura, who led the delegation.

Governors, however, complained that the impact of resources being deployed by the National Government for service delivery was still minimal and county governments were, at times, being called upon to chip-in. The security sector was reportedly the most affected. They therefore appealed for strict monitoring of the utilization of such resources.

Way Forward

The Governors welcomed the proposed partnership and collaboration and expressed their full support for NACCSC in the implementation of sensitization and awareness creation programmes in their counties. They promised to provide their inputs in the transformation of the local committees and support the work of the CACCOCs especially the social audits. Liaison officers to work with NACCSC in furthering the collaborative efforts and partnership were appointed in various counties.

II. REPORTS ON CAMPAIGN PROGRAMMED ACTIVITIES

The implementation of campaign activities was undertaken within four broad areas listed below while the Directorate continued to provide strategic leadership and overall guidance:

A total of seven (7) weekly programmes of 'Moving the Masses' Campaign were produced and transmitted through KBC Channel One Television and simultaneously on Radio Taifa from 6th July to 24th August, 2014. An estimated 3.8 million Kenyans were reached through television and another 4.5 million through the radio programmes weekly with the following anti-corruption messages weekly:

- (i) What corruption is
- (ii) Types of corruption
- (iii) Manifestations of corruption
- (iv) Effects of corruption
- (v) Actions against corruption

NACCSC utilized the media as an important awareness creation avenue that reaches a majority of the citizens.

2. Anti-Corruption Radio Campaign

NACCSC continued implementing the radio campaign to create awareness and sensitize the public on corruption. The campaign featured leaders drawn from the Counties in form of live radio transmissions slated at prime time when a large number of Kenyans are available to listen and contribute to the programme.

The radio campaign was deliberately designed for the following reasons:

- (i) Most Kenyan households possess a radio, which is the most common medium of mass communication in the country.
- (ii) Many FM Radio stations have been established and cover most areas of the Counties broadcasting in diverse languages understood by the local people.
- (iii) Behavioural change is a long-term process requiring diverse methods since re-orienting people already indulged in corruption is a big challenge.
- (iv) NACCSC seeks to engage with the Kenyan at the grassroots level to sensitize them on what corruption is, manifestations, effects, and the actions to take.
- (v) Provide a platform for the audience/listeners to share their experiences with corruption and suggest solutions.

NACCSC undertook the radio campaign through two FM stations as follows: -

a) Mayienga FM

Transmission on Mayienga FM was on every Wednesday of the week from 2nd July to 3rd September, 2014. Mayienga FM is a dholuo-speaking radio station which has an active Fan Club whose members made the programme highly interactive. A cross-section of leaders and opinion-shapers from Kisumu, Migori, Homa Bay and Siaya Counties were invited to the studio located in Kisumu and discussed various topics.

An estimated 2.8 million residents were reached with anti-corruption messages weekly through the programmes. The station distributed Information, Education and Communication (IEC) materials bearing anti-corruption messages, thus 100 t-shirts, 50 branded wristbands and 50 car stickers to the listeners. The listeners were regularly reminded to participate in the 'Moving the Masses' campaign programme.

b) Nosim FM

The Maasai vernacular language Nosim FM Radio Station transmitted ten programmes weekly every Thursday from 3rd July to 4th September, 2014. A cross-section of leaders and opinion-shapers were featured from the three counties of Narok, Kajiado and Samburu and discussed various topics.

An estimated 1.9 million residents of the three counties were reached weekly with anti-corruption messages and IEC materials, thus 100 t-shirts, 50 branded wristbands and 50 car stickers distributed to the active listeners. Feedback from listeners in the form of short message service (sms) and social media posts and tweets indicated that Kenyans are eager to have their capacity built so that they can enjoin the fight against corruption at the individual level.

Procurement of an additional 8 (eight) community/regional Radio FM stations for the joint campaign with the county governments is ongoing.

3. Values-Based Anti-Corruption Campaign

NACCSC conceptualized and developed a concept paper on a nationwide values-based campaign to create awareness and sensitize the public on corruption and the National Values as provided in article 10 of the Constitution of Kenya, 2010. The campaign promotes values, encourages the public to embrace and practice those values and brings out the link between non-practice of the values and the increased incidences of corruption.

The campaign targets behavioural and attitudinal change towards corruption as well as eliciting action on the part of the citizens through refusing to participate in corrupt activities as they go against the values and norms. Two values-based anti-corruption Public Service Announcements (PSAs) were aired during 'Moving the Masses' multimedia campaign programme and the radio talk shows. The PSAs promoted the following national values:

- (i) Good Governance
- (ii) Integrity
- (iii) Patriotism

The messages put corruption into context for ease of understanding and directly appealed to the individual's heart and mind. Procurement of additional values-based anti-corruption PSAs based on the concept paper developed earlier is ongoing.

4. Agricultural Shows and Exhibitions

NACCSC participated alongside the Office of the Attorney General and Department of Justice in the Nairobi International Trade Fair themed "driving agri-business in attaining food sufficiency and Vision 2030" held from 29th September to 5th October, 2014 at Jamhuri Showground.

NACCSC through the County Anti-Corruption Civilian Oversight Committees (CACCOCs) also participated in activities organized regionally to mark the Day in Kilifi, Kirinyaga and Bungoma Counties. CACCOCs Chairpersons and Regional Anti-Corruption Co-ordinators facilitated build-up activities like radio talk shows and road shows and also addressed the gatherings to pass anti-corruption messages.

(i) Additional Funds—KSh. 75 Million

NACCSC received an additional allocation of KShs. 75 Million under the supplementary estimates to fund campaign activities in the 2014-2015 financial year. As a result, the total funds allocated to NACCSC increased from KShs. 76 million to KShs. 151 million. This increase necessitated the revision of the 2014-2015 workplan to factor in some critical activities that could not have been implemented with the initial allocation. These activities include values-based anti-corruption campaign, campaigns in the counties, multi-media campaign and restructuring and operationalization of CACCOS. NACCSC appreciated the provision of additional funds by the National Treasury which will be used to upscale the campaigns, particularly in the counties, which are now faced with serious corruption challenges.

By 31st March, 2015, the total expenditure was KShs. 44,797,316.50 (or 30% of the total annual allocation of KShs. 151,000,000), being the total sum of commitments amounting to KShs. 2,704,750 and payments of KShs. 42,092,566.50. The balance of available funds is KShs. 106,202,683.50 available for campaign in the next three months. - (v) Complex procurement processes and inadequate information on new initiatives such as the Access to Government Procurement Opportunities (AGPO) programme, cash transfers, etc.
